Observations... From Around Town

(BY JAY WHOZIT)

Associate editor Pat McCauley of the Echo, in an effort to run down the many rumors prevalent about town as to the removal of the slot machines in Bay St. Louis, called on Sheriff Burton D. Johnson to ascertain the exact status, and lo and behold, did he get a reception. He was promptly informed by the Sheriff that he did not know that there were any slot machines operating in the City of Bay St. Louis. Fip, we want to extend our sincere sympathy... we are indeed sorry to know that a man so young as you, has suffered the loss of your eyesight as a result of all the racket... After reading press reports in Wednesday's newspapers we were relieved to know that Bay St. Louis is not the only South Mississippi community receiving unfavorable publicity due to the actions of its municipal officers... Pica-yune's Mayor Moseley was forced to resign his office in face of a threat of the Crosby interests to remove their industrial plants from Pica-yune... they own six large industries in Pica-yune and vicinity... Moseley himself is one of the seven top taxpayers in Pica-yune... Hattiesburg, too, seems to be having trouble over Sunday blue laws, the question is whether to have or not to have picture shows on Sunday... frankly we can see no harm in going to a picture show on Sunday after we've first been to church and performed our religious duties... the recent rains have made some parts of our temporary beach road almost impassable, which is bad at any time, but even worse at this season of the year, with many summer visitors here, and we are certainly hoping that something will "break" in the near future to supply authorities with the necessary finances to rebuild this vital artery in our stress system... what has happened to the real estate market here?... we've heard of very few transactions in recent months locally, with Waveland giving Bay St. Louis more than a little competition in the way of building and selling... the fair of last weekend for the benefit of Our Lady of the Gulf church was very successful financially, but the exact amount cleared has not yet been determined... the number of polio cases in some sections of the state have reached epidemic stage, but no cases have been reported locally, so let's take every precaution against this dreaded disease until the so-called "polio season" has passed... Camp Stanislaus closes its 1949 season Sunday after five weeks of activity, during which time every type of recreational activity known to summer campers, was enjoyed by nearly two hundred boys, ranging in age from 8 to 14... seventeen beauties will compete this week for the title of "Miss Mississippi" on the campus of the University of Mississippi... the winner will represent the Magnolia State at the national beauty pageant in Atlantic City and will receive a $1,000 scholarship for "Ole Miss"... residents of Henderson Point, this week, refused "to incorporate into the city of Pass Christian any part of the Henderson Point area."

A. H. Gregory Is Installed As Rotary Club President

A. H. Gregory, manager of the Mississippi Power Co. office here, was installed as president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary club at the annual Ladies Night banquet last Thursday evening at Hotel Reed. Other officers are R. L. Camors, vice-president; and Carl T. Smith, secretary-treasurer. Dr. R. G. Cox, president of Gulf Park college was scheduled as guest speaker, but could not fill his engagement. Howard LeTissier spoke on the principles set forth by Rotary and said that if each of us lived according to these principles there would be no communism, fascism, or Nazism in our world. S. J. Ingram, retiring president, expressed his appreciation for having served the club as president and presented Mr. Gregory, who pledged himself to uphold at all times the high standards set forth by Rotary and asked for the cooperation of his fellow Rotarians. There was a short musical program with George Wimberly offering two flute solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Carl T. Smith, who also played for the general singing. The board of directors are Mr. Gregory, Mr. Camors, Mr. Smith, S. J. Ingram, J. J. Kelleher, Ellis Guillory and Dennis Tonkel.

COUNTY ON CASH BASIS CLERK TELLS BUSINESS GROUP HERE

Hancock county is presently operating on a cash basis, A. C. Mitchell, chancery clerk, told members of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting of the group Tuesday night. The county is still under a bonded indebtedness of some one and a quarter million dollars, and these obligations must be met before any funds from the gasoline tax refund can be used toward beach repairs, he said.

Mr. Mitchell spoke at the invitation of Ted Routh, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

DISCUSS SPRAYING

At the meeting the question of spraying the tow. with DDT in an effort to rid the area of insects and a precaution against polio which is sweeping the rest of the state. Realizing that the city is financially unable to have the job done it was decided to attempt to raise sufficient funds through a popular subscription campaign. A committee headed by Mr. O. C. Delph, was appointed and a couple of meetings have been held toward organizing the campaign.

Mr. Charles Breath, Jr. informed the group of a communication he had with a power boat association in New Orleans concerning the possibility of having speed boat races on the Bay Sometime in August.

RACING A BUSINESS

The cost of the races would be approximately $500. Mr. Breath said, pointing out that whereas the drivers used to race for trophies, racing is now a business and they race only for cash.

Last week's boat races in Hattiesburg brought nearly 8,000 people to that city.

The meeting was attended also by Mrs. Leo Seal and Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab as guests of Mr. Mogabgab. Both ladies expressed great interest in the work of the Chamber of Commerce and particularly the project to have the town sprayed. Mrs. Mogabgab, past president of the Bay-Waveland garden club, told the group that an invitation has been extended to the National Association of Garden Clubs to hold its 1951 meeting on the Mississippi golf coast.

Neither Confirmation Nor Denial Available On Gambling Rumors

Neither official confirmation nor denial of flagrant rumors that all gambling would be swept out of Hancock County by midnight Saturday could be obtained from either city or county officials.

How and when the rumors started is also undetermined, and much speculation has been heard on whether or not these rumors have any basis in fact.

Comment by city officials was scant and guarded.

County Sheriff Burton D. Johnson, when asked, "Have you heard anything about the rumor that slot machines would be removed from the county by midnight Saturday," replied profanely: "... If there are any in town, I don't know it."

The rumor has it that all gambling—not only the slots—will be removed from the county. As of press time Thursday no definite information was available, and the truth or falsity of the rumors will only be learned by noticing Sunday morning whether or not there are slots still open and defiantly operated within the county.

Values Of Rotarianism Is Cited By H. Gregory In Initial Address

"Perhaps the solution to many of the world's problems can best be found in a determination on the part of the individual Rotarian to seek and strive for balance in their own sphere of life," Homer Gregory said in his initial speech as president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary club at the regular luncheon hour Wednesday. In elucidating the values of Rotary, International he showed that it had grown out of one man's desire to find friendship and acquaintances and fellowship. "This need to be strengthened today and the emphasis put upon the individual rather than upon the club," he said.

Today there are 6,823 Rotary clubs, 330,000 members, 348 new clubs in 38 countries since July 1, 1948. This amazing growth he attributed largely to the fundamental principles of the development of the individual.

Mr. Gregory listed the motto of Rotary, "Service Above Self," its four objects, club service, vocational service, community service and international service. He closed his address with the four-way test for Rotarians—Is it the Truth? Is it Fair to all concerned? Will it Build Good will and better friendships? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

The following committee chairmen were named: Arms and Objects Committee: Homer Gregory, Robert Camors, Carl Smith, Ted Ingram, Ellis Guillory and J. J. Kelleher.

Mixed Marriage Rulings Changed R. O. Gerow, Bishop, Announces

(From the Catholic Action Jackson)—Mixed marriages may be performed henceforth before the altars of Mississippi Churches, Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez, has ruled.

Announcement of the Bishop's mitigation of the rule against mixed marriages in church was made this week in a letter to all pastors and assistants.

Canon law forbidding mixed marriages in church allow the ordinary of each diocese to grant permission for such marriages if he judges "that otherwise more serious evils will result."

Bishop Gerow made it clear that special permission would have to be obtained for each mixed marriage to be performed in a church sanctuary. Offending of Mass is not to accompany the marriage and the Blessed Sacrament is not to be removed from the tabernacle, the Bishop ruled.

His letter follows in full:

"Canon 1109 No. 2 says that mixed marriages are not to be in the church unless the Ordinary prudently judge that otherwise more serious evils will result, and in this case he may grant permission but with certain reservations.

"Up to the present time I have never granted permission for a mixed marriage in the church. My reason has been that I might conform to the practice of the other diocese in this Province.

"For a long time, however, I have felt that in a diocese such as ours where such a small percent of our population is Catholic, and where frequently our society of our rectory is scarcely suitable for a dignified wedding ceremony, it would be better to mitigate the rigid rule that I have followed in the past, and under certain conditions, to grant permission for mixed marriages in the church.

"I have seriously pondered over the following considerations:

"1—Matrimony is a sacrament, and, therefore, should be surrounded with dignity. Often outside the church—in the rectory or in the rectory, or the home of one of the parties, there is little dignity in the surroundings.

"2—Our non-Catholic brethren are coming to look upon marriage more and more as a non-sacred thing. We do not help at all in counteracting this attitude when we forbid them to be married in the church. I feel that we should do everything in our power to impress upon them the sacred character of marriage and of its obligation. A church wedding will help to do this.

"3—If the reason for not permitting mixed marriages in church be to discourage mixed marriages, I think it is entirely ineffective and its results in this regard are practically nil, at least in a diocese such as ours.

"4—I feel that by forbidding mixed marriages in church we are missing an opportunity of introducing the church and her sacred surroundings to our non-Catholic brethren, and of creating a feeling of good will which might have an important bearing upon the keeping of the nuptial promises.

"After serious consideration I have decided to mitigate the policy that I have followed in the past.

"Accordingly, where there are grave reasons for doing so, I will in individual cases grant permission for mixed marriages in the church under the following conditions:

1—Permission from the Bishop must be obtained in each case.

2—The marriage cannot take place in conjunction with the Mass.

3—It shall be not later than 12 noon.

4—Elaborate decorations shall be avoided—some simple decorations of a few flowers and candles may be permitted.

5—No unbecoming dress or conduct that would in anyway show disrespect to Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament may be tolerated.

6—The Blessed Sacrament is not to be removed from the tabernacle.

7—The marriage party may be permitted to come inside the communion railing.

8—Catholic practices, such as genuflecting, are to be observed by all participating in the marriage ceremony.

9—Only strictly liturgical music and such religious hymns as are approved by the church are permitted.

10—The officiating priest may wear cassock and surplice.

"In view of the above, from now on marriages shall be performed either in the rectory or in the church not in homes or in secular buildings.

"And since an understanding by the non-Catholic party of the essential beliefs of the Catholic will tend to produce a happier married life, the non-Catholic should have explained to him these essentials. This cannot be done in a short time, and a minimum of three instructions should be given.

"In these instructions, besides the general belief of God and prayer, etc., the attitude of the Church toward Sunday Mass—Baptism—and the sacred character of matrimony, its permanency, and its obligations (e.g. against birth control) should be stressed.

"In the ceremony of the marriage itself the beautiful instruction on marriage in our ritual should be read slowly, intelligibly, and impressively by the priest."

LIVESTOCK SECTION OF 1949 STATE FAIR WILL BE BROADCAST

Jackson, Miss.—Plans for broadcasting the livestock department of the 1949 Mississippi State Fair, October 10-15, including a modern up-to-date barn, have been developed by the Mississippi Agriculture and Industrial Exposition commission.

J. M. Dean, secretary and general manager of the event, and Paul F. Newell, leader in Extension animal husbandry at Mississippi State College, who also serves as general superintendent of the department, declared that "it is hoped that this barn, which will house 250 cattle is the beginning of a building program at the State Fair to better accommodate livestock, agriculture, and other departments.

The fair commission has been able to expand premium funds to some extent for departments. In addition to the livestock classifications, premiums this year call for a new feature, which includes junior livestock judging contests, one for the 4-H club group and another for the FFA students. Contests in general livestock, dairy, and poultry will be held.

In the beef cattle division, with E. E. Grissom, associate Extension animal husbandman as superintendent, classifications are provided for registered Herefords, Aberdeen Angus, and Shorthorns and competition in these divisions "is open to the world." In the beef department are also classifications or state entries of beef breeding cattle.

Paul Young, Extension poultryman, will have supervision of the poultry department, which includes sections for both senior and junior exhibitors.

The dairy department, with L. A. Higgins, leader in Extension dairying, as superintendent, includes classifications for Jerseys, Holsteins, and Guernseys.

VICTORY CONSTRUCTION GIVES BID OF $79,734.80 FOR NEW R. E. A. LINES

The Victory Construction Co., of Mobile, Ala., submitted a low bid of $79,734.80 to the Coast Electric Power Co., Wednesday for construction of additional lines in the tri-county area served by the Company, H. H. Shattuck, Manager said recently.

The two next to lowest bids were also selected by the board of directors and the three bids were forwarded to Washington for final approval by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Victory Electric Co.'s low bid was closely followed by bids of $79,983.61 from Jones County Construction Co. of Ellenville, Miss., and $80,275.92 from the Kincaid and Loflin Co. of Brookhaven, Miss.

EXPECT APPROVAL

Included in the estimates were costs of labor and material to be used in the construction of approximately 94 miles of distribution line to serve some 175 additional families in the Hancock-Harrison-Pearl River counties, Mr. Shattuck said.

Immediate approval of the bids by the Washington headquarters is anticipated and construction will begin about August 1. The contract stipulates that the job will be completed within 90 calendar days.

TO RADIO MEET

Some 50 to 60 persons attended the meeting of the board of directors at which the bids were let. They represented the bidding contractors and various material supply concerns interested in the job. In all, 10 bids were submitted ranging from the low of $79,734.80 to a high of $92,466.48.

H. M. Alford, engineer of the REA, attended the bid letting as representative of the Administration. Shortly after the board meeting Wednesday, Shattuck left for Atlanta, Ga., where he will attend the Southeast group utilities radio meeting Thursday and Friday. He makes the trip in the interest of the local coop which plans to install two-way radios soon. Installation of this equipment will greatly facilitate and hasten repair and maintenance work on the expanding facilities operated by the coop.

Meeting Is Called To Discuss Road Repair Problems

A meeting of citizens interested in roads and road maintenance will be held at Hotel Markham in Gulfport Wednesday, July 20 at 3 p. m. according to a letter received from John D. Smith, highway commissioner of the Southern district.

Called by Mr. Smith, the meeting is for the purpose of discussing overall road problems, the letter said.

It further stated: "Realizing that every community has its own problems of all-weather roads and a right to expect the best in road construction and maintenance from the means available, this is one of a series of citizens meetings being held to discuss mutual problems and possible solutions."

State officials who will be present are: John D. Smith, S. T. Roebuck, and Roy C. Adams, highway commissioners; Walter Spiva, director of the highway department; R. A. Harris, chief engineer of the highway department; F. A. Davis, district engineer of the public roads administration; and J. W. Kornum and C. W. Burch, district engineers of the highway department.

"Every community is interested in roads", the letter continued. "The highway department is interested in every community, and a good attendance at this meeting Wednesday will assume better understanding between the Commission and the citizens and will pave a way toward getting the maximum benefit for the people from the services of the highway commission."

All interested citizens are invited and urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogan Helms, St. Louis, Mo., are guests here of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ramond.

The infant daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. R. S. Sternacker was christened Sunday afternoon, July 10, at the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf, by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor A. J. Gmelch. She was given the name of Paula Mary. Sponsors were John Damborino and Miss Margalo Damborino.

The commission council in regular session Tuesday passed a resolution authorizing City Attorney Dan M. Russell, Jr. to prepare suits or other proceedings against individuals and corporate bodies which illegally accepted funds from the former commission council now charged by State Auditor Carl Craig with mishandling more than $90,000 in city funds.

The motion to accept this resolution was made by Sylvan Ladner, Jr., commissioner of public utilities, seconded by finance commissioner J. Cyril Glover and was adopted by unanimous vote of the council.

There is a definite cause of action in favor of the city of Bay St. Louis, the resolution read. The auditors report made public two weeks ago cited many persons and corporations that had received public funds with knowledge that they had no legal right to so accept and appropriate such funds.

LEGAL COUNCIL

The resolution further stated: "... The present municipal council of said city conceives it to be its official obligation and duty to the tax payers of said city to take and institute such legal proceedings as may be necessary to recover, for the city, all such public funds as may be recoverable by suit or otherwise; and that for the purpose of conducting such proceedings, it is found to be necessary, the city shall be represented by legal counsel."

An additional stipulation of the resolution was that the parties involved would be notified of the beginning of proceedings against them 15 days in advance and of the nature and amount of the claim for which recovery is demanded.

FILE CLAIM

The commission council also filed a claim with the Hancock county board of supervisors for payment to the city of ad valorem taxes due for the fiscal year Oct. 1, 1947 to Sept. 30, 1948. The amount requested by the city is $6587.94 and will be used in repairing and maintaining city roads and streets. The claim was signed by the two commissioners, and received favorable initial action by the county board.

Also accepted by a two to one vote of the commission council was the motion by Commissioner Glover that "the position of assistant to the commissioner of finance being held by Thomas Egloff be abolished effective Monday, July 18 for reasons of the critical financial condition of our city."

CAPABILITY

Glover further asserted, "I feel capable of handling the office of tax collector without additional help at the present time."

The position was created at the first of the year and was originally held by M. E. Touline. Egloff took the job on March 7.

Also at the Tuesday meeting the council passed an order which provided that all purchases over $5 made by the city must be accompanied by a requisition signed by two members of the commission council.

All commission council meetings are open to the public and interested citizens are invited and urged to attend.

INTENSIVE PROGRAM IS PLANNED TO RAISE SHEEP QUARANTINE

An intensive dipping program in an effort to raise the present Federal quarantine on sheep in this area will get under way in the very near future, Howard Simmons, county agent, said Wednesday.

At its meeting last Monday the Hancock county board of supervisors approved an order to purchase the benzene hexachloride to be used in the dipping. The State and Federal governments, cooperating with the county agent, will furnish the portable vat, a man to charge it and a veterinarian to supervise the overall county program.

To consist of two dippings ten days apart for each sheep in the county, the program will require about 30 to 45 days, the agent estimated.

MISSISSIPPI STILL SHY OF BOND DRIVE QUOTA

Mississippi has achieved 83.4% of her Opportunity Drive quota. She needs $1,122,569 to put her over the top. This is not a big job for the people of Mississippi to meet. The Opportunity Drive offers a real privilege to every citizen who is able to purchase E bonds. Four dollars for each $3 invested in such sound securities in just 10 years is indeed an opportunity. Every purchase of E Bonds means future opportunity for the individual. Invest in securities that you know will remain above par and grow.

Buy your share of E Bonds before July 16.

WHAT MAKES 'EM LEAVE?

We were asked a few days ago if an industry which had located here was forced to close due to demands and pressure from political sources. In reply we stated that we did not believe this was true and gave our reasons why we thought this plant was closed.

The young man who propounded this question to us was particularly interested, not on account of a small business he will operate, as it could not be affected, but he had a friend, a manufacturer and packer of food stuff, who might be induced to locate a plant, employing 25 or more people, in Bay St. Louis provided such conditions did not exist.

The hopes of the Mayor and commission council, and our business and civic leaders to bring to our city some added payrolls, which would materially aid and afford employment at home to many of our people who presently are forced to seek it in other localities, will be shattered unless efforts are exerted to counteract such opinions which are abroad.

Of course these opinions are not mere accidents. The evil lies in the Rackets, headed by men who, instead of devoting their time and efforts to building their fortunes through legitimate methods and permeating our politics with corruption, could lend much to the economic upbuilding of their city by affording the necessary leadership in a righteous course.

It is a deplorable condition when the voice of the people is not heard and our public officials are subservient to the wishes and whims of the racketeering element. Should we wonder when we must submit to much unfavorable criticism.

Who can offer the cure? The Mayor and commission council of the city of Bay St. Louis have the key to the situation. It is within their power and bounden duty to strike at the root of the evil—the slot machines. They have been given a mandate on two occasions by their people. Are they sincere when they say that they wish to build Bay St. Louis? Their actions will judge them.

They are being offered an opportunity to render a service to a deserving and patient people. Will they seize it or will they sit idly by, allowing a group of repudiated racketeers to continue to build their futures at the economic expense of our city.

Their actions are being viewed by their people, and those outsiders, with serious thought and contemplation. What will their answer be?

MEC CHAIRMAN URGES COMMUNITY LEADERS TO SUPPORT COUNCIL

The Mississippi Economic council offers the only setup in the state to give opinions of "grass-roots" leadership on matters effecting the social, civic and economic welfare of all citizens, Howard W. LeTissier, local chairman, said this week in urging local business and civic leaders to support the MEC through memberships.

"The MEC is working for your interests," the chairman stated. "It is supported only by memberships from firms and individuals interested in preserving the American way of life, as we have known it."

"It is the first move to give the average business and professional man and other leaders a chance to express opinion on matters affecting the general welfare of all citizens. There have been, and there are, good organizations representing various groups—but the MEC gives a cross-section of the best leadership in all groups."

"Certainly it is time our leaders took an active, unselfish stand on where we are headed. The future of our state and nation is vital to every man, woman and child in this county."

"We urge our local leadership to give serious consideration about becoming affiliated with the MEC. It is the democratic way of fighting for our rights."

DANCE SLATED BY LAKESHORE GROUP SATURDAY, JULY 16

The Lakeshore Civic association has scheduled a dance for Saturday night at the Lakeshore Civic hall, according to a communication received from Mrs. Malcolm Green, assistant to the secretary of the group.

Another dance is scheduled for Saturday, July 30, also at the hall. The civic association is a non-profit organization conducted by volunteer members who serve on the various committees. Revenue collected through these dances will go to pay many of the bills accumulated by the group.

Home made cakes are raffled at each dance. Good music is provided by Victor Green's band, and refreshments are served at a nominal cost," Mrs. Green wrote.

The association holds regular meetings on the first Friday of each month. Special meetings are called, however, after each dance in order that the secretary may present a financial report. The public is invited to attend all meetings.

Price of admittance for the two scheduled dances is 50 cents for men and 25 cents for ladies.

Mrs. Green invites all who are seeking a good time Saturday night to come on down and attend the dance.

MIDSHIPMAN TRAUB
IN AMPHIB TRAINING
AT VIRGINIA BASE

Charles Traub, III, NROTC mid-shipman attending Oregon State college, son of Mrs. Henry E. Traub, of New Orleans, is presently participating in the amphibious training exercises held Little Creek, Va.
for NROTC midshipmen, during July.

The exercises will train approximately 2,100 student officers from 52 colleges throughout the United States. These officer candidates are entering their junior year.

During these exercises, Traub
will receive training in the funda-mentals of amphibious warfare under the auspices of Rear Admiral Jerauld Wright, USN, Commander
Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

During the training ashore Traub will attend lectures and take part in practical problems of amphibious warfare. He will see training films, and witness demonstrations conducted by seasonal veterans of World War II.

Afloat training for the future Naval Officers will acquaint them with the various types of amphibious ships and craft, and give them the experience of participating in amphibious landing operations. The climax will be a full-scale landing
on the beaches at Camp Pendleton, Va.

This training coincides with that given to Marine Corps Reserves and U. S. Air Force Units.

Upon his graduation from college,
Traub will embark on a two-year tour of active duty during which his capabilities as a Naval Officer will be observed. If he meets the requirements during this period and desires to do so, he will be given the opportunity to remain as an officer in the Regular Navy.

Midshipman Traub is the grandson of Captain Charles Traub.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick. Fisher
and son, Fred, Jr., of New Orleans,
former residents, were here house
hunting over the week end.

Bay Nine Drops
To Third Place
In League Set-up

Sunday's wet defeat of the Bay St. Louis ball club at the hands of Moselle dropped the local boys from a tie for first place in the league
standing to a tie for third.

The final score Sunday gave Moselle nine runs, the Bay five.

A doubleheader is scheduled this Sunday with league leading Lumberton at Lumberton. Moselle's victory last weekend put them in second place and dropped Bay St. Louis into a race with Picaune for third.

Until rained out last Sunday in the fourth inning the Bay lead Moselle by a score of 1 to 0. When the rain quit and the game was resumed, however, the visitors came from behind to collect three runs
and a 3 to 1 lead.

The closing inning was a tally
rally with Moselle gathering six runs and a sure victory in the first half. In the Bay's half of the last box the local lads attempted a comeback but slumped after three runs were in.

A wet field and a wet ball saw Pitalo surrender nine hits and his teammates accumulate seven errors.

BELL WINS ANOTHER
IN LIGHTNING SERIES

Jack Bell sailing his Careless won another in the series of weekly Lightening class series Sunday. The race was held at the Pass Christian yacht club.

The entire race was sailed in light,
puffy, and changing winds. Sonny Wolfe maintained a safe second position throughout most of the race
until the wind shifted and caught him on the wrong tack.

Mickey Phelan finished in second place, Herbert Hanson was third, Billy Richardson fourth, and Wolfe
fifth.

"When our own yacht club is finished we hope to have several classes
of boats racing every weekend," John Bell, contractor, said.

—Oscar Spotorno came over for the Fourth visiting his cousin L. N.
Spotorno and Miss Mellie Spotorno.

By J. L. Bishop, Soil Conservationist

Notice the adjacent picture? Did you ever take a drive into the country and see this picture before? You probably have on numerous occasions. Referring to the picture, the farm on the right practices soil conservation; you can see contour farming, strip cropping and permanent pasture. Yes! the farm has a good sturdy fence around it too. You can readily see what this farmer is doing to conserve his soil and water on the farm, while on the other side of this picture
you can see desolation—soil erosion
has been going on for a long time
and all the top soil has washed away.
The top soil is gone forever down the streams and into the ocean, where it will be no good to anybody.

This cow you see, looking over into the farm on the right, probably is looking for something to eat. Can a farmer support cattle on a pasture like the one the cow is in?
Don't you think he can do something about it? Why doesn't he conserve his soil like his neighbor on the right side of the picture? Don't you think he should begin this fall
by terracing and contouring his land, establishing permanent pastures for his cattle to have plenty of grasses and clovers to graze? Yes! if he had permanent pastures, his cattle
wouldn't look like this cow you see in this picture.

Here is how farmer Alfred E.
"Ford" Smith, RFD, 2, Perkinson, Miss., says he started to put conservation practices on his farm.
"One morning Mr. Bishop came to my house and asked me to go on a tour with him. I almost refused, but went. We went to Walthall county and was set on fire when we inspected their pastures. Frank Shaw, Arthur Shaw, Lucien Hoda
and other farmers went and were all interested and glad to make the trip.
We saw White Dutch clover and Dallis grass—really pretty—I didn't dream it would grow that far south.
I had seen it before, but up north. I believe we saw 10 pastures that day. We saw some Kudzu. Everybody on the tour was saying they were going to enlarge their pastures;
one man was going from 3 to 30
acres next year.

"This was enough to convince me that I had to grow pastures and that I had not been doing it right. I had not been preparing my soil and using the right kind of fertilizers on the right land. Frank Shaw and I came home and agreed that we would grow if we had to haul water to it.
"We started out with Mr. Bishop's advice. The first year I planted 10 acres in pasture, consisting of White Dutch clover, Burmuda grass and lespedeza. I have planted about 24 more acres and intend to plant more land and I am using row-crop land in pastures. This year for the first time, I planted 5 acres of Bahia grass in which I have planted some White Dutch Clover. I have 4 acres of Kudzu, with wild winter peas in it.

"I went from row-crop to dairy-
ing. The first year that I was dairying (without a farm plan) and without a pasture, I estimate that I barely made a living. I think if books had been kept very close, you could say I went in debt. I really worked harder than I ever worked in my life. This year with permanent pasture, my milk production had more than doubled. I am making some money. In addition to the grazing I get from the White Dutch clover, I harvested 400 pounds of seed from my clover, which has gone a long way toward paying the bills for establishing the pasture. I expect to get some seed from it each year in addition to grazing; in fact,
next year I expect to get some $1500
worth of seed from my white Dutch clover. In all the years I row-cropped, I have never made $1500 from row-crops. When I first started grazing my cows on the White Dutch clover early in the spring I would let them graze three or four hours and turn them out to get water. I had a time with my cows;
they would walk around the pasture
fence and low the rest of the day,
wanting to get back in the pasture;
they never did go to get water. I finally had to put them back in there to keep them from making so much noise. I have learned, too that I can grow my new milk cows on pastures two years earlier. Before I had permanent pasture, it would take twice as long to produce a new milk cow."

Interest in cattle production and dairying in the District have increased tremendously in the last year.
Farmers have learned that a soil and water conservation program really pays big dividends, not only in better pastures, but better woodland,
better row-crops, and better forage crops as well. Remember, when your soil becomes depleted, you,
your family, community, county,
state and nation will become depleted. Why not conserve your soil and the grass will be greener on your side of the fence.

Consult your soil conservation
district commissioners, they will help you to get a farm soil conservation plan on your farm. Don't hesitate!
Start your conservation practices today.

County Agents Notes*PASTURE CARE

Something can be done about the way hot, dry weather usually effects pastures during mid-summer.

Stop overgrazing by giving more land per animal and changing from one pasture to another each week.
Mowing is something else to do at this time.

The mowing machine is the best friend the pasture has during the summer to protect it from weeds, bushes and briars crowding out the grasses and clovers. Money spent for mowing will be paid back many times by the extra grass and clover.
The treatment given to pastures
during July will determine how good the pasture will be in September and October.

It is a well known fact that bitter weeds do not grow in a good sod.
If there is overgrazing and bitter weeds get up, mowing is the best remedy for control.

Cypress weeds must be mowed to keep them down. By mowing
two or three times during the summer the weeds are starved out.

If Dallis grass is rested one week
and grazed one week, it will stay in the pasture and give good grazing.

If lespedeza, sudan or kudzu are grazed one or two hours daily and cows put back in the permanent pasture, this temporary grazing will last longer and make more money.

July is a good month to make plans for the winter grazing program. Ponds should be constructed, the dams fertilized and sod set.
Areas with bushes should be cleared, and posts should be treated.

Trees in the pasture, as well as stumps with sprouts growing from them, can be poisoned during the summer. Ammate used as a tree poison will not injure livestock, according to the manufacturer.

Following during July and August part of the land to be put in early fall grazing is the secret to producing early oats, other cereals or clovers.

After harvesting a grain or seed
crop, or at the end of grazing clover or legume, disk the land well, and repeat disking every two weeks during July and August.

A good rule is to follow one-fourth of the land to be put into winter grazing. By seeding on this followed, well-prepared seedbed, oats or clover will germinate, come up and live.

Dallis grass seed can be harvested during July on good pastures. In some areas wild winter peas are not ready until July.
